A. Personal Statement

Briefly describe why you are well-suited for your role(s) in the project described in this application. The relevant factors may include aspects of your training; your previous experimental work on this specific topic or related topics; your technical expertise; your collaborators or scientific environment; and your past performance in this or related fields (you may mention specific contributions to science that are not included in Section C). Also, you may identify up to four peer reviewed publications that specifically highlight your experience and qualifications for this project. Include any prior experience with DHS projects. If you wish to explain impediments to your past productivity, you may include a description of factors such as family care responsibilities, illness, disability, and active duty military service.

B. Positions and Honors

List in reverse chronological order previous positions. List any honors. Include present membership on any Federal Government public advisory committee.

C. Contribution to Science & Engineering

Briefly describe up to five of your most significant contributions to science and/or engineering. For each contribution, indicate the historical background that frames the scientific/engineering problem; the central finding(s); the influence of the finding(s) on the progress of science or the application of those finding(s) to health or technology; and your specific role in the described work. For each of these contributions, reference up to four peer-reviewed publications or other non-publication research products (can include audio or video products; patents; data and research materials; databases; educational aids or curricula; instruments or equipment; models; protocols; and software or netware) that are relevant to the described contribution. The description of each contribution should be no longer than one half page including figures and citations. Also provide a URL to a full list of your published work as found in a publicly available digital database (e.g., Google Scholar).

OPTIONAL: Consider providing a visual summary of your research record, by inserting an image from a publicly available career visualization tool, such as Scholar Plot (scholarplot.com).
